Hello! So nice to meet you! Samantha!

Meet Samantha: Samantha is an experienced surrogate and married mom to two sweet kiddos, a boy and a girl. Sam and her husband Dan and their two kids live in Springfield, Missouri.

Sam and Dan are creative entrepreneurs; Sam is active on social media and runs a lifestyle site dedicated to sharing their families' adventures. Dan has a podcast. During their free time, they love to travel the United States in their RV together and give back to their communities.

Sam loves the pregnancy and delivery process, and they are done growing their own family, so the decision to become a surrogate was an easy one to make. When will you be ready to start a surrogacy journey: Looking for the right match now! Doctors recommend an embryo transfer be around 9-12 months post-partum so that means embryo transfer should land in the Spring or early Summer 2023.

Why are you interested in being a surrogate? We just helped a couple bring their baby into this world and it was the most amazing thing to be a part of and witness. Our children are a blessing to us, and we would love to help another couple experience the love a child brings to a marriage.

Covid Vaccination Status: Not vaccinated and looking to match with parents who are comfortable with this choice.

What does your daily routine consist of? Wake up, time with the Lord and quiet time to myself if no one is awake ); Make breakfast for the family, do something adventurous, homeschool the kids for an hour, lunch, kids nap while I work, do something fun as a family, dinner as a family, then bedtime. I'll usually finish up work again before watching Survivor before bed. Our days can vary depending on if we are traveling in the RV, however, we understand for pregnancy we need to be near the delivery hospital and in our planned delivery State for legal contracts, so we won't be traveling at that time during the surrogacy.
